A TURF SENSATION.

Monroe Salisbury Expelled From All Trotting Tracks, and Why.

GRAND CIRCUIT MEETINGS.

The Wind-Up at Fleetwood-Beginning of the End at Philadelphia-Arena Has Spinal Congestion.

NEW YORK, September 10 .- The Grand Circuit trotting meeting at Fleetwood Park closed to-day with a turf sensation the famous horseman, Monroe Salisbury, baving been expelled from all trotting tracks in membership with the National Trotting Association.

Salisbury's expulsion came about in this way. He started Expressive in the 2:26 class on Friday, and the race being unfinished when darkness came on it was postponed until Saturday. Rain prevented the conclusion of the contest that day, and the interested owners falling to come to an agreement respecting the disposition of the pursa by which the race might have been declared off, it was again postponed until to-day. Mr. Salisbury had engagements for this week in Terre Haute, Ind., and he shipped Expressive, along with his other horses, on Saturday night. This was a gross violation of the rules of racing, as well as an act of insubordi-nation which amounted to an open defi-ance of all authority, provided Expres-sive was removed from the track without the consent of the judges of the race. It is certain that he did not have such permission up to the hour when the race was postponed, and Henry Hughes and John D. Barry, two of the officials, both assert that Salisbury never had their permission to withdraw from the race. On the other hand, two reputable and well-known horsemen here say that Hughes yesterday told them he had Hughes yesterday told their given consent to Expressive's withdrawal, and that the mare left the track by per-pleston. This alleged conversation is deonflicting testimony stands.

The removal of the mare was an expensive piece of business for the betting fracternity, for she had been well backed as one of the favorites and stood a fine THE RULING OUT.

THE RULING OUT.

When she falled to put in an appearance to-day the judges, upon being prompted as to their duties under the rules, declared her ruled out for non-appearance at the post, and at the conclusion of the race, which was won without difficulty by Judge Austin, they announced that Monroe Salisbury had been expelled. Everybody expects to see him temporarily reinstated by order of President Johnston, of the National Trotting Association, within forty-eight hours from date.

The following is a summary of to-day's races: Judge Austin, 2, 1, 1, 1; Strontia, 1, 4, 3, 3; Roseleaf, 8, 8, 2, 2; Jesse Hanson, 3, 7, 4, 4; James L., Myrtle R., Expressive, Tiffic, 2:14, 1-2, 2:15, 2:12, 1-4, 2:12, 1-4, (Note.— Pifst two heats trotted September 7.

Mr. Salisbury claims that he had per-mission to remove the mare. Mr. Salis-bury called upon Mr. McHenry, who cor-roborated what had been said. Mr. Mc-Henry said that Mr. Mason told him that he had talked over the telephone with the two judges, whose names Mr. McHenry had forgotten, and that there would be no objection to withdrawing Expressive. GRAVESEND. GRAVESEND RACE-TRACK, Septen ber 10.—An originally brilliant programme to-day was reduced to a mere skeleton by wholesale withdrawals. There were two big events down for decision—the Speculation Stakes and the Ocean Handi cap. In the former race the three con-testants got away well together, and Jack of Spades assumed the position of taskmaster to the homestretch. Stone-nell and Hugh Penny then collared them. They raced well together, but at the 'ast sixteenth post Simms gave Stonenell his head, and won by three quarters of a Prince Karl flashed in front for a few from a cannon from the rear, and alter nated in the lead with Dutch Skater th rest of the journey, both crossing the line on equal terms. The owners agreed to divide the money. A special race has been arranged for next between Domino and Henry of Navarre at a mile and a fur-long, 122 pounds each. This will undoubted ly prove to be the turf event of the year conditions are good track and day Brookly Jockey Club will give $5,000 to the winner. First race-for fillies 2 years pld, five furlongs-Urania (112, Reagan, 5 to 1) won, Roundelay second, Deno third. Time, 1:93.

Second race-for 3-year-olds and upward one mile and a sixteenth-Judge M (193, Reiff, 8 to 1) won, Harry second, Jack Rose third. Time, 1:50%.

POINT BREEZE.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., September 10.— The wind-up of the grand circuit race for 189 began this afternoon at the Phila delphia Driving Park (Point Breeze). The three events on the card were won in straight heats, and two of them were captured by favorites. The track was rather heavy because of last night's rain, but the weather was intensely warm. At-

Arena, a bay colt, by Alcantara, was the favorite for the first race-the Phila delphia Record Stake, $2,000, for 4-year olds eligible to the 2:29 class-but he wa not in condition, and after finishing fourth in two heats, was taken sick and with-drawn. The field of five scored at least a dozen times in the second heat before being given the word, and this, coupled with the heat, played havor with Arena. After trotting the second mile the animal showed signs of distress, and a veteribary surgeon pronounced him to be affilicted with spinal congestion. Arena has a record of 2.55% with spinal congestion. Arena has a record of 2:15½.

Sally Simmons reeled off the three miles without much urging, and finished a winner as she liked. The Simmons mare had the pole in the first heat and took a lead at the start. She was not headed, and won by several lengths. Arena made a at the start. She was not headed, and won by several lengths. Arena made a bad break on the first turn in this heat and before he caught he was in the rear. Pools sold prior to the first heat, Arena $5 and field $18. The victory of Sally Simmons and the poor showing of Arena changed the tide of the betting, and before the several best and salled the fore the second heat was called the daughter of Simmons brought $25 against $11 for the field. Happy Minnie showed to the front in the second heat for the first quarter, but she then went into the air, and Simmons led the way, finishing a winner by six lengths. Before the third heat Simmons brought $25 and the field talent for the 2:18 pace, bringing $25, against $20 on the field. The close finish made the talent swerve, the field selling for $25 and Abbot Wilkes $20. Abbot Wilkes, Judge Sterling, and G. O. Taylo, paced as a team to the half-mile post in the second heat. Then Taylor broke and fell behind. Wilkes drew away from Sterling in the stretch and won by haif a length. Abbot Wilkes led throughout the third, but Judge Sterling came up strong-ly at the finish and was only a neck behind the winner.

Dodgeville had an easy victory in the Bingham-House $2,000 stake for 2:20 trotters. The winner's time in the second,
2:14 1-4, lowers his record a second.

RAIN IN TORRENTS. As soon as the programme had been finished the rain fell in torrepts, but the weather will probably be clear in time for to-morrow's card. The officers are Frank Walker, of Indianapolis, starter, with V. D. Konover, of Trenton, N. J., and John Strickland and Joshua Evans, of Philadelphia, associate judges, and William Cosgrave and James G. Weldon, of Philadelphia, timers.

LEXOW POLICE INVESTIGATION.

Pawn-Brokerage and the Green-Goods Business-Perjury.

NEW YORK, September 10.-The Senate Police-Investigating Committee resumed its sittings in Part 2, Superior Court, today. Central-Office-Detective Hanley was the first witness sworn. Lawyer Goff at first endervored to prove through the witness that the police were in league with the pawn-brokers of the city for mutual benefit. Detective Hanley admitmutual benefit. Detective Hanley admitted that persons who recovered property from the pawn-shops had to pay the brokers the amount of money for which the property had been pledged by the thieves. Hanley also admitted that he knew this was wrong, as the property could be recovered without any payment, but it was the easiest way, he explained, and Contral Office detectives allowed it. and Central-Office detectives allowed it and Central-Office detectives allowed it. He denied that the police benefited financially in the matter, however.

Hanley were a handsome gold watch, which Mr. Goff examined, and found it contained a name other than that of Hanley. The detective said he had bought it at a pawn-shop. It might have been stolen property, he added, in answer to a question, but it had never struck him so until Mr. Goff mentioned the matter.

Mr. Goff caused a big laugh when he asked the witness solemnly: "Have you ever been taken for a country guy?"

To which the answer, just as serious, was "No, sir."

was "No. sir."

Mr. Goff then changed the subject. He asked regarding the green-goods men.
After several "steerers," "turners," etc., in the green-goods business had given some minor testimony regarding their "trade" William Applegate, who was the intimate of "Jim" McNally, the alleged green-goods banker, took the stand. His green-goods banker, took the stand. In the standing was very important, for he gave the names of places where the green-goods men carried on their nefarious trade, as well as the names of men who did the printing of circulars. the names of telegraph operators who were fixed for delivering telegrams to ficticious addresses, and other important details of the business. J. M. Rheinschieber was the name of one printer who did work for McNally, Rheinschieber was called, and declared that he never knew McNally, and grew indignant when asked if he printed cir-culars for the green-goods men. He was then confronted with bills, letters, etc., which proved conclusively that he had whereupon the witness admitted the

The Lexow Committee then put the threat it had made for committing per-jury into execution, and directed counsel to bring an indictment against Rhein-schieber. He will be indicted to-morrow. Applegate was again called, and testi-fied that he had paid money to police captains and policemen, and also Central-Office men. Captain Meakin was one of the men implicated by his testimony. Wit-ness had not concluded when the time for adjournment arrived.

CHARLESTON LIGHT INFANTRY. Its Injunction Suit Against Tillman's Taking Away Its Arms.

BALTIMORE, MD., September 10 .- The South Carolina dispensary riots of last March were discussed in the United States Circuit Court here to-day before Judge Goff. The matter came up in the form of an injunction suit to prevent Governor Tillman or any State officer under him taking possession of the arms and ac-courrements of the Washington Light In-fantry Company, of Charleston, S. C. It will be recalled that when Governor Till-man's raiders passed the line of offensiveness drawn by the citizens of Darling ton and other towns, they were attacked, a number of the constables killed, and the rest put to flight. The Governor then ordered several companies of militia to proceed to the scene of the uprising and strides after the start for the Ocean Handicap had been made. Soon Patrician sailed up to the front, but had to give way to Dutch Skater, who assumed Its members flatly refused to take up At the arms against fellow-citizens who, they officiousness of dispensary officers. Gov-ernor Tillman was highly incensed, and ordered the company to surrender its irms. This order was also disobeyed, and an appeal to the courts was made The Charleston company is represen by Theodore S. Barker and J. P. Bryan. Attorney-General Buchanan appeared for Governor Tillman.

The lawyers for the company claim that The lawyers for the company claim that the arms were secured for the company by special act of Congress and held in undisputed possession for over sixteen years; that they were issued for no other purpose than the use of the company; that the seizure of them by the Governor would be illegal, as it would be a diversion of them to a purpose not authorized by the act of Congress under which they were issued.

Attorney-General Buchanan said of the State's case: "We believe that the Gov-ernor has the right to discipline the mili-tia of the State whenever he feels like it, and that the United States has no right to interfere. We are not trying to deprive this company of its arms for all time, out are doing it simply to teach it a les son. Even if we did want to disband the company and take its arms away from it, what right has the United States to say that we should not? If it had any, we would soon have a nice state of af-fairs. There would be a State militia and one belonging to the government. The State supports its militia, and it has the right to do what it pleases with it.'

This morning the following telegram from the New York World was received by the Governor "NEW YORK, September 9, 1894. "To Governor W. J. Northen, Atlanta,

In reply to this query Governor Northen

this morning wired the following reply: "To the World, New York:

"Say to the 'English Committee' who have come to this country 'to investigate and denounce lynchings at the South' that I am in position to know that they have received their information from irresponsible sources, and that the English people have declined and refused to be properly informed about our laws and the conduct of our government. The English papers, to my knowledge, have declined time and again to publish statements made to them in defence of the South by Englishmen who are now residents of the cant upon false ideas of our government The people of this State are quite able to administer their own affairs, and they are doing it in full justice to the negro, as our laws and our conduct will attest.

FRUITERER TO THE QUEEN.

An August Personage Who Is Not Im pressed With American Millionaires.

Suppose, says a London writer in the New York Advertiser, we go and talk to a man of intelligence. He has mutton-chop whiskers and fills a larger waistcoat than you or I will ever achieve. He is the largest fruiterer in Covent Garden, and he serves the royal family. Garden, and he serves the royal family.

"This box is going to the Queen this morning. Look," says he, "all sorts of stone fruit except plums. Her Majesty does not like plums. Pears? Yes-these are for her. Her Majesty is fond of peaches, but nectarines are her favorite fruit. The Prince of Wales likes old-fashioned Ribston, especially after breakfast. He used to have a weakness for fast. He used to have a weakness for Kentish cobs; in winter we used to charge him 5 shillings a pound, but he dom touches them now. The Princess Wales and her daughters are fond of fruit; all of them are great fruit-eaters. The Princess' favorite is Jersey grapes. "What are the rare fruits; the odd.

"The common fruits," said her Ma-"Many a duchess has occupied your seat, with a carpet under her feet, eating strawberries at a guines

When he said this I was confused. Really, I did not know whether to ask him to bring on his boasted duchesses or his guinea strawberries. I said nothing, "Money was plentiful in those days," he said. "Prices were good, and reduc-tions never hinted at. It was a bad day for us when the old families began to ed you out?" I asked.

"I serve Mrs. John W. Mackay and she never questions a bill. She buys the best and pays whatever I ask. She pays a guinea apiece for pineapples grown in the Azores or St. Michael. English watermelons, grown in hot-houses—not the for-eign stuff which is not worth ninepence each—I sell her for six shillings. I should charge ten shillings apiece.
"Now, Mr. Astor-I don't want another millionaire, as you Yankees say, like him. He was my customer for one week. I sent him peaches at thirty shillings a dozen, and a fair quality of hot-house grapes at ten shillings a pound. He sent down his butler to ask me to make a reduction, as he would buy large

"I sent back word that if Mr. Astor terms by bartering with the outside cos termongers. He may save a hapenny by doing that, but he'll never get any-thing out of my shop again."

Upon my word, I think her Majesty's fruiterer talks a deal better than I do.

fruiterer talks a deal better than I do. But I want to tell you one thing about Covent Garden: The whole shot is owned by the Duke of Bedford; even the Queen's fruiterer is only a weekly tenant; so, whenever the old Duke gets hard upand he plays the races—he raises the rent all around, and every one groans and pays up. He won't sell, and he won't grant a lease; but one good thing about him is that he stands by his old tenants. The businesses run in families. One has been there ever since the market was opened; another over a hundred years.

THE MAINE ELECTION.

Cleaves's Plurality Probably in Excess of

37,000-Reed's About 10,000. PORTLAND, ME., September 10 .- The biennial election in the State for a Governor, four representatives in Congress, State Legislature, and county officers was held to-day. The Republicans, Democrats, and Prohibitionists had full tickets in the field, while the Populists ran a can-didate for Governor, and candidates for Congress in the First, Second, and Third Districts, and contested some of the coun-

On Governor and representatives in Congress the only question from the congress the only question from the opening of the campaign has been as to the size of the Republican plurality. Nevertheless, the Republicans waged a vigorous and aggressive campaign for the purpose of making the plurality as large as possible, Their campaign was ably managed by Chairman J. H. Manly, who secured an unusually strong array of speaking tal-ent, headed by the four Maine represen-tatives, Messrs, Reed, Dingley, Millikin, and Boutelle, and swelled at the last minthe by Governor McKinley.

The summaries of returns to-night will be based on the gubernatorial vote, the candidates being: Republican, Henry B. Cleaves, of Portland; Democrat, Charles F. Johnson, of Waterville; Prohibition, Ira G. Hersey, of Houlton; Populist, L. C. Sateman, of Searsmont.

The Republican have expected, on the strength of a State canvass, a majority exceeding 18,000 for Cleaves, against a plurality of 12,000 two years ago. The Democrats have conceded 11,000 or 12,000. There have been hints that the Populist Vote might overtip the Prohibition. THE RETURNS. PORTLAND, ME., September Eighty towns give Cleaves 21.746; Johnson, 9.282; scattering, 1.164. In 1892 Cleaves received 21.104; Johnson, 16.614; scattering, 1.782. Plurality, 12.464, against 4.490, a gain of 7.974. Cleaves's plurality will evidently be large.

AUGUSTA, ME., September 10.—The in-dications are that the State has re-elected Cleaves Governor over Johnson (Democrat) by a majority which will exceed $7,000, the largest in the history of the party. The Republicans have carried every county in the State, and at 11 o'clock it is estimated that the Legislature will have working Republican majority of 125, nich secures the re-election of Senator Frye.

Hon. Thomas B. Reed has been re elected to Congress by a plurality esti-mater at 19,000.

Dingley, Hon, Seth L. Hon. Nelson Dingley, Hon. Seth L. Milliken, and Hon G. A. Boutelle are also re-elected to Congress by majorities ranging from 6,000 to 3,000. The total vote will probably exceed 110,000. HE LOST ALL CHARM FOR HER.

must speak to one of the girls first; then I flew up-stairs. When I got there I saw at once that Mame had had one of her tidying fits for I couldn't find what I wanted. You see, my hair was a little out of curl."

"Of course."

"Just then I heard Mame coming and I said, crossiy: 'I wish you'd tell me where on earth you've put my curling iron. There was no reply, so I repeated my query in a still crosser tone."

"Listen: 'I-I think there must be some mistake, said a rather faint, masculine voice. And, girls, there he was standing just inside the door."

"My goodness!"
"I just stamped my foot: 'There is a mistake!' I cried. 'You're in the wrong room, and I'll thank you to get out,' and I advanced, brush in hand. He fleds and I locked and double locked the door; then I sank on the floor in a heap and cried. I couldn't forgive him for making such a silly mistake. Suddenly something struck me as strange—"

"You surely hadn't—"
"I just had. In my haste I had missed a flight of stairs and I had driven the man out of his own room. O. I'll never get over it if I live to be a hundred."

But the Servant Girl Did Not Hurry Enough to Suit Him.

(Detroit Free Press.) There's one hired girl in Detroit who ought to have a medal. The other morn-ing a tramp came to the kitchen door where she presides and asked her for something to eat. It wasn't the first one who had so presented himself, and she was not at all pleased to see him, but she did not show it in her manner. "Will you sit down in the shade there," she said pleasantly, "and wait till I get it for you?"

"Certainly, ma'am," he said unctuously, as he picked a soft place and deposited himself upon it. She went into the kitchen and the tramp waited. He continued to wait. Every now and then she would appear at the door and hope would spring in his breast, and he would smack his lips, only to see her disappear again. Finally the strain

"Yes'm."

"And didn't you say you would?"

"Yes'm, but I'd like to know how long

She laughed merrily.

"That's so," she said, "I never thought
